

Senators want higher 'sin' taxes

By PHILIP LAY LEE and MICHELLE PILLER

TO LEAVE 11 senators yesterday continued for planners in Manila to support legislation to raise the cigarette tax. The bill is projected to raise revenue while reducing the health care burden on the government.

The Senate committee on health and sports, headed by Sen. Juan Ponce Enrile, said the bill is projected to raise revenue while reducing the health care burden on the government. The bill is projected to raise revenue while reducing the health care burden on the government.

Local cigarette firms back DOJ 'sin' tax formula

Local cigarette manufacturers have backed the Department of Justice's proposal for a new 'sin' tax formula.

The cigarette industry has long been a major source of revenue for the government. However, the current tax formula is outdated and does not reflect the current market conditions.

The new formula is based on the volume of cigarettes sold, rather than the number of packs. This will ensure that the government receives a fair share of the revenue.

Court junks Tan bid to junk raps

THE COURT has rejected Dante Tan's bid to junk criminal tax evasion charges against him and Chingkoe.

The court said it has rejected Tan's bid to junk the charges because he failed to prove that he was not guilty of the charges.

A Letter Of Apology To The Public

By the Editors of the Philippine Daily Inquirer, Inc. (PDI) and the Philippine Daily Star, Inc. (PDS)

Dear Readers,

We are writing to you today to express our deepest apologies for the errors and omissions that have plagued our reporting in the past few days. We understand that our mistakes have caused you frustration and disappointment, and we are truly sorry for that.

Our goal is to provide you with accurate and timely news, but we have fallen short in several instances. We have misquoted sources, made factual errors, and failed to provide the full context of the stories we covered. We are committed to learning from these mistakes and ensuring that they do not happen again.

We are taking steps to improve our editorial process, including additional fact-checking and more thorough reviews of our stories. We also encourage you to provide feedback to help us identify areas for improvement.

We are confident that you will continue to support us as we strive to be a more reliable source of news. Thank you for your patience and understanding.

Sincerely,
The Editors of the Philippine Daily Inquirer, Inc. (PDI) and the Philippine Daily Star, Inc. (PDS)

Jollibee profit taking

JOLLIBEE chair president Tony Tan Caktiong for not unclear reasons has been steadily whittling down his personal shareholdings in the country's No. 1 fast-food chain.

From end-2000 shareholdings equivalent to 2.52 percent, Tan reported that his personal shareholdings in Jollibee Foods Corp. had now been reduced to 1.79 percent.

Just this Nov. 5, Tan sold 130,000 JFC shares at P31.2 a share, locking in the year's highest price so far for the fast-food stock.

Along with Tan, Honeyworth Corp. whose chair/president happens to be his brother-in-law, Antonio Chua Poe Eng, also unloaded an identical 130,000 JFC shares, also at P31.2 per also on the same day.

Before the Nov. 5 sale, Tan reported owning 1,758,203 JFC shares as of end September, considerably way below the 25,435,254 shares he had as of end-2000.

Sells that block is worth, at yesterday's closing of P31, over P575 million, and that does not include Tan's other shareholdings in related family corporations, his own JFC and JFC subsidiaries, subsidiaries.

Forbes sat net this year guesstimated that the 54-year-old Tan, who founded Jollibee in 1978 along with his brother, is now worth $270 million net, or about P1.52 billion.

Homeless Depot

THE MC Home Depot in Origas has now been shuttered following the cancellation by the Presidential Commission on Good Government (PCGG) of its order to clear the subject's land obtained from the original owner.

Officially the sign says the complex is up to get a maintenance, but according to the grapevine, Mr. Home Depot will be dismantled by late next month. It replaces new Promera complex further down Origas Avenue by the corner of C-5.

According to eyewitnesses, the main MC Home Depot gate was barricaded with two concrete walls and welded shut yesterday thanks to police muscle.

If you believe the market grapevine, one Nardo Umare, who owns the second-hand 'automobile' dealership beside Mr. Home Depot, has requested police assistance to enforce the closure order after successfully negotiating with the PCGG in taking over the MC Home Depot space.

Incidentally, the other half of the PCGG property had also been leased, this time by the JMA appointees directly to a similar US-warehouse style store, Origas Home Depot, but whose owners are entirely different from its out-of-the-neighborhood.

Mall season

THE SM Group last week inaugurated its Barangay mall. Today, Robinsons will open its Promer mall at the corner of EDSA and Promer. Barely a month after opening the flagship department store at the Filinvest Mall in Alabang.

On Friday, Inc. J. Last will open for business a US-warehouse style of super-market shopping in Libis. Designed to compete with the San Diego, Alabang-based chain PriceSmart.

And despite workers' red hammering away the Ateneo center has partially opened a section of its Gateway Mall. Just so it could live up to the announced schedule for completion which was 12 weeks earlier than scheduled.

Heard through the grapevine

THE Supreme Court has approved the mapagpag of the corporate tax-aided Baguio Country Club in its holding last Friday's annual stockholders' meeting.

BIR fears it may not meet '05 revenue goal

By Michelle Y. Rame

THE BUREAU of Internal Revenue has expressed fears that it may not be able to attain its 2005 tax collection target of P537 billion because the revenue-enhancement measures which the Arroyo administration is pushing, are still pending in Congress.

He said that the P537-billion target for next year, which is 12 percent higher than the P477 billion it is required to collect this year, will only be achieved if most of the revenue measures are passed before January 2005.

The eight revenue measures are designed to yield an additional P80 billion in annual revenue. These are: the increase in alcohol cigarette and tobacco AIT taxes; performance-based salary increase for revenue-collector agencies; sit-down; rationalization of local incomes; increase in the value-added tax rate; simplified tax structure; franchise tax on telecommunications and broadcasting companies; increase in petroleum taxes.

Of the measures, however, only the AIT item and the local excise have been progressing in Congress. The AIT bill has recently been passed in the Lower House and is now being deliberated in the Senate, while the local excise bill is yet to be passed by the Lower House.

BIR Commissioner Guillermo Perayno Jr. said that should the two bills be made into law before the end of this year, the revenue agency is likely to collect only P510 billion next year. He said the P537-billion target that the Arroyo administration expects, would require the bureau to collect next year already and also account the revenue to be generated by them, if not all of the eight measures.

He said the passage of all the measures would be impossible to accomplish this year, considering that there are only one-and-a-half months left before the year ends. Even Congress has admitted that it could not pass even a three measures this year.

Perayno, however, suggested that the government come up with alternative sources of tax revenue to still help the BIR achieve the P537-billion target for next year.

"If we will not be able to look for a replacement, we may not reach the target," Perayno previously told reporters during a press briefing.

For this year, Perayno said the BIR has already collected about P290 billion in the first 10 months.

Perayno said that the P290 billion over P80 billion more to attain its P477-billion full-year target.

Perayno said that the P290 billion collection for the January-October period was already 10.7 percent higher than its collection during the same period last year. However, it was still 1.5 percent short of its 10-month target for this year.

PSE reverses losses

By Elizabeth L. Sanchez

THE PHILIPPINE Stock Exchange yesterday reported it had reversed its losses in the first nine months to P22.54 million from a loss of P37,134 posted in the same period last year.

Operating revenues for nine months grew 29.4 percent.

The improvement in the third quarter was attributed to the re-imposition of transaction fees amounting to P12.4 million for the period, and higher subscriptions to Mak-trade, its electronic trading for the current year of P7.34 million.

Data feed connections were higher by P4.67 million due to the increase in number of data vendors from 13 to 15.

Operating expenses for the third quarter rose 12.3 percent to P130.58 million due to increase in costs of trading technology, other computer and trading-related expenses, among others.

members of East West Banking Corp. from March 1995 to June 2001. Earlier, Lasala worked for Equitable-PCI Bank, where she handled various positions, including first vice president for treasury and consultant for treasury.

About half of her 22 years in banking was spent with the former Central Bank of the Philippines, where she was among the first batch of central bank leaders trained to manage the country's international reserves. She worked for the old central bank from 1980 to 1989.

Fluorescent plants to sell part of stake in cable companies

By Charles E. Jones

NEW YORK — Fluorescent plants, a leading provider of energy-efficient lighting, announced today that it plans to sell a portion of its stake in several cable companies. The move is part of a broader strategy to diversify the company's portfolio and focus on its core business of manufacturing and distributing fluorescent lighting fixtures.

The company, which has been a major player in the lighting industry for decades, has recently acquired several cable companies, including a significant stake in a major national cable network. However, management believes that the cable business is not a core competency and that selling the stake would allow the company to concentrate resources on its primary market.

The sale is expected to generate a substantial amount of cash, which will be used to pay down debt and invest in research and development for new lighting technologies. Management anticipates that the transaction will be completed within the next few months.

Gov't tariff plan seen to push fuel prices up

By Stephen A. Smith

WASHINGTON — A plan to raise tariffs on imported oil and other fuels is being considered by the U.S. Trade Representative, which could lead to higher prices for consumers. The proposal, which is part of a broader trade policy review, aims to protect domestic industries from foreign competition by imposing higher duties on certain imports.

The plan specifically targets oil and other petroleum products, which are major components of the U.S. economy. Industry groups representing oil companies and consumers have expressed concern that the move would lead to a significant increase in fuel prices, potentially causing inflation and economic hardship.

The Trade Representative has defended the plan, stating that it is necessary to ensure a level playing field for domestic producers. However, the proposal has faced strong opposition from both the oil industry and consumer advocates, who argue that the benefits to domestic producers are outweighed by the costs to the general public.

German bank helps ease burden of schoolchildren

By Howard S. Glick

BERLIN — A German bank has launched a program to help ease the financial burden of schoolchildren and their families. The initiative, which is part of a broader social responsibility effort, provides financial assistance to students who are facing economic difficulties. The bank has set up a fund that can be used to cover school supplies, tuition, and other educational expenses.

The program is designed to ensure that all children, regardless of their family's financial situation, have access to quality education. The bank has received positive feedback from the community and has committed to continuing the program for several years.

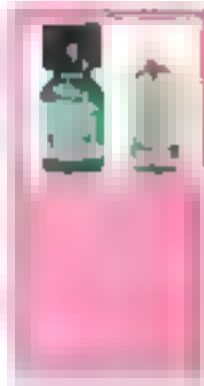

There are not enough resources in the neighborhood to maintain the quality of the school. The bank is helping to provide resources to make sure that the school can continue to provide a high quality education.
